

[Designation of Document] Abstract

It is equipped with a magnetic recording medium, a spindle motor which rotates the magnetic recording medium, a head portion which carries out at least any one of recording and reproducing of information, an actuator which supports the head portion, a voice coil which turns the actuator, a relay wiring body which is electrically connected to the head portion and the voice coil, and a motor wiring body which is electrically connected to the spindle motor, and a housing is equipped with a connector by which the relay wiring body and the motor wiring body are electrically connected in the housing for giving and receiving an electric signal between the relay wiring body and the motor wiring body and a control section.